Message From President and Hon. Secretary Desk

Respected Members,

Greetings,

As we sit to put this last message together, we can't believe how quickly a year has passed.

Apart from scientific programs and other programs arranged by Ahmedabad Medical Association, few require special mention like dawn to dusk fast, cycle rally, closure of routine work, participation in doctor's maha panchayat at New Delhi etc. all were about the call given by IMA HQ to protest NMC Bill.

During all these time association had shown its unity and strength. As one of the oldest and largest branch of India, it is our responsibility to lead from front.

During last year, Ahmedabad Medical Association had successfully hosted the state conference GIMACON 2017 and an Annual conference of our association AMACON 2018. Under Aao Gaon Chalen project, medical camp was arranged at Dakor. PPS Zonal education seminar, CME on Tuberculosis: "End TB initiative" were also arranged. Both program of Gujarat State branch were hosted by Ahmedabad Medical Association.

At this juncture, we would like to thank each one of you for putting faith in us and supporting and guiding us throughout the year. We are thankful to all the past presidents for guiding us. We are thankful to office bearers, managing committee members for their support and help. We are thankful to office staff for their cooperation in the administrative work.

As we are passing the baton of Ahmedabad Medical Association to the new team, we are sure that they will carry the Association to new height.

Ahmedabad Medical Association was, is and will always be shaped by those who believe in betterment of Medical Fraternity.

Our best wishes to the new team.

Asthma and Lung transplant in 21st century

What is asthma?

Asthma is the disease of airways which are hypersensitive and leads to variable airway obstruction. This can change with time and improves with treatment.

The asthma can be presenting in many different ways and it has to be suspected in patients

With history of allergy.

There are many risk factors for asthma.

Is genetic factor is responsible for asthma?

Yes.

Can smoking by pregnant women can affect children?

Yes. Smoking by pregnant mother leads to increase risk of asthma in children. Even the risk of asthma may increases if grand mother has smoked during her pregnancy.

Does caesarean section increase risk of asthma as compared to normal delivery.?

Yes study showsthe risk of asthma increases 4 fold in babies born by caesarean section as compared to normal delivery.

What are the other environmental factors can be responsible for respiratory disease?

Home wall dampness, pollution, fumes due to dhupsticks, antimosquito coils and construction in surrounding areasetc. are considered for deviation in health of respiratory patients.

What are the triggers for asthma?

There are many triggers known for asthma attacks.

Dust, fumes, ciggarate smoke, pollution, pollen etc.

There are more than 100 allergens known today.

What are the symptoms of asthma?

Patients with asthma are likely to have difficulty in breathing, chest pain, coughing, severe coughing may be present on exposure to allergen. Usually the patients feel better once they expectorate sticky sputum. The difficulty in breathing may be severe.

What is the pathophysiology of asthma?

The asthma is actually a cascade of inflammation. There are many inflammatory mediators responsible for asthma. Several cells, leukocytes play very important role in development of asthma.

Research work in the field of asthma over several centuries has lead to development of great knowledge in understanding of asthma.

Based on knowledge we can treat the individual inflammatory mediators and by that we can reduce the asthma.

What are the investigation for asthma?

The investigations are pulmonary function test before and after bronchodilators.

What are the latest treatment for asthma?

The latest treatment of asthma has lot of new advances.

Asthma can be now treated with many new modalities apart from its basic Treatment with inhalers and medicines.

Are there any newer molecules are a available for treatment?

Yes there are many long acting molecules including bronchodilators and steroids have come in, however they may be useful in treatment of other respiratory conditions but their benefits and risk are not very clear in asthma.

What is Bronchial thermoplasty?

The bronchial thermoplasty is a new way of treatment of severe asthma.

With the help of interventional pulmonology and latest advances we can Control the asthma.

This treatment is done through bronchoscopy and a radiofrequency catheter is advanced through the bronchoscope working channel.

The catheter's end is applied at selected location.

With the help of the radiofrequency, smooth muscle targeted will be ablated.

In this way we can reduce the smooth muscle fibres numbers within specific Bronchus. Not only that with the help of thermoplasty same bronchus which has undergone this procedure, we test the same bronchus by exposing to allergen. The bronchus which was undergone the procedure will not show bronchospasm. The other bronchus which has not undergone thermoplasty will still show bronchospasm.

This technique has started in India and in future it may show a great impact.

However only selected patient after careful selection should be subjected for the same.

Thus with a positive direction we should be able to change the future of asthma patients.

Omalizumab

This is a new drug which shows good result in treatment of asthma.

One of the important reason for triggering the asthma attack is level of an Ig E antibody.

This antibody is also responsible for initiating the severe bronchospasm.

The new drug is responsible for targeting this Ig E antibody.

Omalizumab is Anti Ig E antibody. This external antibody actually binds to the Ig E and remains bound to it so, Ig E cannot bind to the mast cell and allow to start

The inflammatory cascade, which can lead to asthma attack.

The therapy consists of giving omalizumab in an appropriate dosage as per the Ig E levels.

The therapy may be extended over a period of time for more than a few months.

The omalizumab can be given as once a month or twice a month therapy.

Thus therapy may block one of the major factors responsible for asthma development and leads to reduction in asthma severity. The good news is the same drug was not available in India before a few years. But now the same molecule is available in India for the treatment of asthma.

What is mepalizumab?

The asthma cascade also contains IL-13, which is also one of the important components of asthma inflammation.

This new molecule shows promising results in treatment of asthma.

As it can lead to blockage of IL-13, making it unavailable for the asthma inflammation.

As this inflammatory mediator gets out of inflammation, it can lead to reduction in to severity of inflammation and can lead to reduction of asthma severity.

What is fevipiprant?

This molecule is a PGD2 receptor antagonist. Newer molecule in the treatment of asthma.

It will be helpful in treatment of asthma.

What is the latest treatment modalities for end stage lung disease?

The best treatment modality for the endstage lung disease is Lung transplant.

It helps to change both the diseased lung of the patient and change them to new transplanted lungs.

This helps the patient to recover from incurable disease and gives him a new life and a ray of hope.

Is lung transplant is possible in india ?

Yes. The lung transplant has started in india.

What is your experience with lung transplant ?

I have been experience of lung transplant patient in america more than 10 years.

It serves the very purpose of giving a new life to the Patient with end stage lung disease.

How much a patient can survive after lung transplant?

The patient who lived after lung transplant for about 26 years and still alive and happy with his family.

This was the best possible scenario where a patient survived in america under best possible care with the best hospital set up and lung transplant unit. This was the data about america . In india the scenario is different, how ever lung transplanthas started in india now. However datas are variable and it requires lot of precautions and treatment and proper close follow up in india.

The latest treatment and newer technology has advanced to provide best possible health care to the people of 21st Century.
