'SERVICE TO MANKIND... NOT DESTINATION... BUT WAY OF LIFE'

Message From President's Desk

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Friends,

First of all, I am very much thankful to each and every member of our Association & our leaders & Past Presidents from bottom of my heart for considering me and such a soulful opportunity to serve as President of this most esteemed Association - The Ahmedabad Medical Association. It is not a designation but a responsibility. So I pray to God to give me strength to perform my duties.

Friends, our association is worried about our community but our members are not aware of schemes run by AMA & IMA GSB. I want to work on awareness of Schemes. We will also plan for community awareness about Blood Donation, Organ Donation & Pre-cancerous condition. I am sure it would be our contribution towards "Healthy India".

I will also like to continue our trends of arranging CMEs for our members.

Following guidelines of Government we will like to arrange entertainment programmes also.

I congratulate Dr. Monaben Desai for her glorious work done during COVID-19.

We are fighting against Corona Pandemic. We have lost so many Corona Warriors - many of our friends, family members. We have lost our own Dr. Pankajbhai Sheth - Treasurer of AMA & we have also lost our pillars, our beloved Ramikaka & Prakashbhai. I pay homage to them.

Ending of my first message I as a president of AMA hope active participation from my managing committee and all the members of AMA.

"Happy Diwali"
"Happy New Year"
in advance

"Jay AMA"

Message From Secretary's Desk

SECRETARY'S MESSAGE

Respected Seniors and Members,

This will be second year of my tenure as Hon. Secretary of Ahmedabad Medical Association. First of all, I am thankful to President of last tenure Dr. Monaben Desai and whole team for helping and supporting sincerely for all successful programs done last year.

"Every challenge makes us more powerful to work hard and sincerely. And that makes us more passionate to achieve goal." These were the words written by me in first message and really we got challenge in the form of Corona time and that we changed into opportunity to serve better for our fraternity and society as well. All credit of extreme nice work done by us, goes to our vibrant and hard-working President, Dr. Monaben Desai. I was really lucky that I got chance to work with her untiredly. We also were blessed by our seniors and stalwarts and also support of all members of our association. We really believe in "Just Do It, Nothing Is Impossible".

Still Corona period is going on and now I have got chance to work with President Dr. Kirit C. Gadhavi and our new team. I am quite confident for confidence and passion of whole team and powerful leadership of our President. We had very good start by successful Installation Ceremony. We had followed all guidelines like masks and social distance. We will also follow now onwards and will have to restrict our programs of gathering. But definitely show will go on.

Really nicely said, "If passion drives you, let reason hold the reins."

"We must act out passion before we can feel it."

"Happy Diwali"
"Happy New Year"
in advance

Jay IMA, Jay AMA.

Thank you.

ORGAN DONATION AWARENESS DRIVE BY AMA and AMAWDW

We are now going to launch an unique Organ Donation Awareness Drive. As you all know the rate of Organ Donation in our country though thickly populated, is below 1%. This is because of lack of awareness. We being doctors have to improve on this statistics. We are going to have Organ Donation Awareness Counselling Cell in every hospital which have ICUs and Ventilator Facilities. This Project will be in collaboration with SOTO. Those Doctors who are interested in giving their services for this noble work, kindly give your -NAME, SPECIALITY, CONTACT NUMBER to AMA office.

We would like to launch this project on 22nd November-2020, -The Gujarat Organ Donation Day.

With the welcome of foggy mornings and chilly evenings, we get relief from the hot climate of Ahmedabad. Winter is about to set and it's the time to rejoice! It's the season of endless cups of "ginger tea" and strong coffee. However, for many, the winter season brings a lot of diseases especially related to respiratory tract infection.
VIRAL RESPIRATORY TRACT INFECTIONS OTHER THAN COVID 19 IN WINTER
During winters, the body heat usually experiences a drop as the environment cools. At the same time, the body is adjusting to the new climate. Three theories have been put forward to explain viral seasonality. 1: The effect of climatic conditions on host resistance to infection 2: The effect of meteorological factors (e.g. temperature, humidity) on virus survival and hence on infection rates. 3: The effect of behavioural changes on transmission (e.g. spending more time indoors in close proximity to others or aggregation of susceptible children at schools during the colder months). Upper respiratory tract infection (URTI) is never been in high priority list even though it can cause sleepless nights, school absences and missed work, which can lead to economic loss to family. Each year hundreds of millions of people are affected with respiratory tract infections. Acute respiratory infections (ARIs) are caused by variety of pathogens worldwide and it vary geographically. The viruses causing ARI belong to several families. Human Rhinoviruses (HRV) are responsible for around 30% to 70% of all respiratory infections. Since there are >100 different rhinovirus types, reinfections are very common. Coronavirus is the second most common cause of URTI, causing 7% to 18% of cases. Other viruses like influenza viruses (Type A, B and C), respiratory syncytial viruses (RSV) types A and B, human parainfluenza viruses (HPIV) types 1-4, adenoviruses, human metapneumovirus (HMPV) also cause URTI. Clinical features Upper respiratory tract infections (URTIs) include the common cold, laryngitis, pharyngitis/tonsillitis, acute rhinitis, acute rhinosinusitis and acute otitis media. Lower respiratory tract infections (LRTIs) include acute bronchitis, bronchiolitis, pneumonia and tracheitis. Respiratory viruses infect any person from infant to old age. It can cause spectrum of diseases from simple URTI like common cold to severe pneumonia and its complications. Most of viruses causing respiratory tract infections present with similar symptoms and signs and difficult to differentiate clinically. Most cases of respiratory viral infections are asymptomatic or relatively mild, causing minor illness. Serious illness can develop, especially among certain high-risk groups, leading to hospitalization, worsening of chronic conditions, and even death.

Adults suffer from a common cold two to five times a year, and children can have 7–10 episodes annually. The common cold is typically a mild upper respiratory tract infection (URTI). Infection of the nasal, nasopharyngeal, and oropharyngeal mucosa causes a runny nose, coughing, sneezing, and sore throat. Barking cough occurs when there is tracheobronchitis or croup. Bronchitis refers to inflammation of the bronchi and presents with a cough; bronchiolitis, involving the smaller distal airways, is characteristic of RSV infection in young infants and presents with wheezing. URTI are mostly self-limiting but can progress to lower respiratory tract infections (LRTI) particularly in high risk patients. Pneumonia occurs when infection and inflammation involve the alveoli and lung parenchyma and is associated with a cough and shortness of breath.

Rhinovirus, adenovirus, and human coronavirus infections are usually limited to the upper respiratory tract. Parainfluenza viruses cause croup, RSV causes bronchiolitis and influenza, Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome virus (SARS), Middle East Respiratory Syndrome virus (MERS), and Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome Corona Virus 2 (SARS-CoV-2) can cause pneumonia.

Rhino virus infection is manifested by nasal stuffiness and throat irritation, usually accompanied by low-grade fever, anorexia and myalgia. Sneezing is accompanied by a watery nasal discharge, which after one to three days becomes mucopurulent and can persist for up to ten days in over a third of patients. Rhinovirus infection causes concomitant inflammation of the paranasal sinuses.

Influenza virus infection - Fever is the most common symptom and is higher and of longer duration than in rhinovirus infection. Rhinorrhoea occurs commonly. The classic symptoms are sudden onset of fever, with or without chills, headache, malaise, and cough. The patient may complain of myalgia disproportionate to fever. The upper respiratory symptoms usually have a later onset and include conjunctivitis and gastrointestinal symptoms. Influenza can lead to serious sequelae such as pneumonia, encephalopathy or encephalitis, myocarditis, and secondary bacterial infections.

Respiratory syncytial virus - symptoms are runny nose, decreased appetite, cough, sneezing, fever and wheezing. These symptoms usually appear in stages and not all at a once. It can cause bronchiolitis and pneumonia apart from URTI, which can be presented with fever, severe cough, wheezing. Infants are most severely affected.

Parainfluenza virus - symptoms of URTI may include fever, running nose and cough. Once lower respiratory tract is involved, it can cause croup, bronchitis, bronchiolitis or pneumonia. In croup, typically the child exhibits a croupy cough, inspiratory stridor, hoarse voice and respiratory difficulty on inspiration.

Adenovirus - it can cause common cold or flu like symptoms, fever, sore throat, conjunctivitis. It can also cause pneumonia and GI symptoms.

Human metapneumovirus - it can cause URTI and LRTI in people of all ages. Common symptoms are cough, fever, nasal congestion. It may progress to bronchitis or pneumonia and can cause shortness of breath.

Similarities and differences between Covid 19 and flu

	COVID 19	FLU
Causative virus	SARS-CoV-2	Influenza
Severity	Asymptomatic to severe. More serious illness in high risk population	Mild to severe illness. Severe illness with novel influenza (e.g. H1N1) in high risk population
Symptoms	Change in or loss of taste and smell unique, though not found in all patients.	Similar symptoms. No alteration in taste or smell.
Incubation period	4.5 to 5.8 days	1-2 days
People at high risk	Older adults, immunocompromised condition, pregnant lady	Similar to Covid 19 Complications are higher in healthy children
Complications	Similar as in flu except thrombotic phenomenon	No thrombotic complications
Antiviral medications	Remdesivir, Favipiravir	oseltamivir, zanamavir, peramivir, baloxavir
Vaccine	Not available	Available

Treatment

A large number of patients suffering from common cold have strong desire for some specific antiviral agent for cure. Most upper respiratory tract infections (URIs) are self-diagnosed and self-treated at home with symptomatic treatment. Patients who present with URIs often benefit from reassurance, education, and instructions for home treatment. Symptom-based therapy represents the mainstay of URI treatment in immunocompetent adults, although antiviral therapy is appropriate in selected patients. Except influenza virus infections, there are hardly any antiviral agents having clinical activity for other respiratory viruses. Those patients who develop LRTI or complications require hospitalization.
